Become NATE certified at cfm in one day!

NATE Certification Testing

March 9, 2010

1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Tests that are offered:

NATE Core Service Test (This gets you certified in service and installation and you must pass this test along with at least 1 specialty test to be NATE Certified)

Only $145 per test

Specialty Tests

NATE Gas Furnace Service Test

NATE Air Conditioner Service Test

NATE Heat Pump Service Test

These tests will be taken online at cfm. Please bring a wireless capable laptop computer with you when you come to take the test. We have a few laptops available on a first come, first served basis, but we recommend bringing your own. You will probably have time to take the Core test and one other test. If you pass the core service test and the one of the specialty service tests, you will automatically be certified for service and installation for both core and whatever specialty test you choose. The grade required for passing NATE tests is 70%.

To review for the test session, you may go to www.cfm distributors.com and click on the "train with cfm" link and then click on the "log in and start learning now" link. That will take you to cfm's online learning site where you can enroll in a NATE review course. There is a fee and please allow 48 business hours after enrollment and payment to begin taking the class. Otherwise the course will not be available to you.

Testing will be held at cfm Distributors, Inc. 1104 Union Ave. Kansas City, MO 64101
